Baccalaureate, Banquet, Graduation Highlight 45th Annual Commencement

Santa Ana College's forty-fifth annual graduation exercises will commence Sunday June 11 at the First Christian Church of Santa Ana when 137 graduates attend the Baccalaureate Service at 4 p.m.

Disneyland Hotel will be the next site for the graduates to join enmasse for a fun-filled evening of awards and dancing during the Spring Banquet Wednesday, June 14.

Climaxing this year's commencement activities will be the colorful graduation exercises in Cook Gymnasium Thursday afternoon, June 15 at 4 p.m.

The Santa Ana College faculty joins the graduates in a full academic procession for both the Baccalaureate and Commencement.

"Whose Follower Are You?" is the title of the Baccalaureate sermon to be delivered by Rev. George A. Munzing, minister of the First United Presbyterian Church of Santa Ana.

Three alumni achievement awards will be highlighted during the Commencement exercises with responses taking the place of the usual Commencement address.

Being honored are Richard W. Taylor, class of 1923, now Division Manager of the Pacific Telephone Company of Santa Ana; Ray H. Lindman, class of 1929, presently a partner in the major law firm of O'Melveny & Myers of Los Angeles; and Dr. Robert Tannenbaum, class of 1935, vice-chairman of the Department of Business Administration, UCLA.

This is the seventh year that the Santa Ana College faculty has honored prominent former students. These men will receive certificates for their success following graduation from SAC.

Also highlighting the commencement exercises will be the presentation of scholarships and awards to outstanding graduates.

Six to Close SAC Roll Books

Six members of the Santa Ana College faculty are retiring or leaving for other posts at the end of this semester, it was announced this week.

The six faculty members are Dr. Warren A. Beck, Dr. Willis E. McNelly, George F. Teale, Alice Smith, Marianne Rogers and Kenneth Griffin.

Dr. Beck, SAC Social Science Department Chairman, will become assistant professor of history at Orange County State next Fall.

Dr. McNelly, English instructor since 1958 will also be teaching in the fall at Orange County State.

Alice Smith, a member of the faculty since 1938 as a secretarial instructor is retiring.

George Teale, who has been in the engineering department for the past three years is also retiring. Teale previously taught at the University of California at Berkeley.

Kenneth Griffin, Dean of Extended Day and Summer Session has resigned his post to take a similiar position at Foothill College.

Spring Banquet Features Music, Honors, Awards

Dancing to the music of the Ted Hayes Orchestra, Dons will climax the school year with the annual spring banquet June 14.

Scene for the banquet and dance is the Disneyland Hotel from 7 p.m. to midnight. Persons with student body cards may purchase tickets from the Don bookstore for $2.75 per person. Tickets will cost $3.75 without student body cards. Thursday, June 8, is the deadline for purchasing tickets.

Las Hidalgas, women's service club, will decorate for the affair. According to Gay Omberg, Hidalgas president, the banquet will center around a motif of flowers and buterflies, typifying the spring season.

Highlight of the evening is the Awards Banquet. Gold Keys will be presented El Don editors by Carl Venstrom, journalism chairman. Awards to Tavern Post and dramatic stand-outs will also be given.

The student council for 1961-1962 will be introduced as outgoing council members are honored.

Dress for the banquet is formal or semi-formal for women, and dark suits for men.

Del Ano 1961 Available Now

Del Ano 1961, the college yearbook, is available today and next week in room B-3 in the publications wing.

Books are free to those who present a student body card. Others may purchase them for $6.00. Faculty and other college personnel may purchase them for $3.00.

Summer Session Offers Unit Credit

Santa Ana College will offer summer session courses for college credit.

Beginning Monday, June 19, 1961, and extending for an eight week period, 45 college and 27 adult education and high school classes will be offered in the evening at the SAC campus.

Enrollment and registration will be conducted in the classroom. Only high school graduates or those 18 years of age or older may register, although high school students who have completed their junior year of high school may enroll in certain prescribed courses with a petition from their principal.

Carol Shipe Gets El Don Editorship

Carol Shipe was named Editor-in-Chief of next year's first semester El Don this week by Carl Venstrom Santa Ana College journalism chairman.

Venstrom stated "Miss Shipe is well qualified as editor of the El Don. I'm sure she will follow in the Berman-Wilcox tradition of producing a top junior college newspaper."

CAROL SHIPE

During Miss Shipe's year at Santa Ana she has acted as writer for the college news service and has been active in many journalism activities.

She was assistant news editor this past semester and feature editor the previous semester. Prior to her SAC positions she was editor of the Orange High School paper "The Reflector."

Miss Shipe is a member of Beta Phi Gamma, honorary journalism society, and a was a delegate to the California Newspaper Publishers Association (CNPA) Conference, as well as delegate to the CIPA-JAJC Conference.

The Orange County Press Club awarded Miss Shipe a journalism scholarship upon her graduation from high school and she recently received a scholarship from the Orange County Division of the CNPA.

Scholarships Won By Don Sophomores

Scholarships to be awarded to several outstanding sophomores will be announced at the graduation exercises to be held on June 15.

Occidental College in Pasadena announced Yasumi Katakura, president of the SAC International Club, as the winner of a $1700 scholarship which would finance her upper division work at the four year college.

Jerry Wilcox, editor-in-chief of El Don and permanent member of Alpha Gamma Sigma, was acclaimed winner of the University of Southern California's upper division journalism scholarship. Wilcox was one of two students from a Southern California junior college selected to receive the $750 for outstanding work in the journalism field.

Miss Katakura is the winner of this year's Altrusa Scholarship. She will receive $100 with which to continue her studies in political science. Yasumi plans to attend either Occidental College or the University of California at Berkeley.

California State Scholarships will be awarded to Pat Fleming and Kathy Youel, freshman. Pat Flemming was recently named to Phi Theta Kappa, the junior college branch of Phi Beta Kappa. Kathy Youel is a charter member of Las Damitas, newest women's service club.

Stephen Habener, who is also a member of Phi Theta Kappa, was named winner of the Birch Noble Scholarship.

Wylie Aitken received the new Peek Family Award of $500. This award is donated in order to promote student interest in participation in government, according to Lon E. Peek.

Winner of the Bank of America Award is Terry Wetzel, business major and charter member of Las Damitas.

Mike O'Sullivan, member of the El Don staff, won the Bill of Rights Scholarship. Mike was chairman of Bill of Rights Week. As chairman for the winning school he is entitled to this award.

Winner of the Business and Professional Women's Award is Karen Bessey. Karen has received this award for two consecutive years.

Four winners of CNPA Journalism Scholarships have been announced by Mr. Carl Venstrom, staff advisor. Barbara Berman, Carol Shipe, Ted Brazil, and Jerry Wilcox will each receive a $25 scholarship.

Carillon Bells Ring On SAC Campus

Once again the carillon bells are ringing over Santa Ana College.

Thomas Trawick, Dean of Students, has obtained the carillon which is of a different type than previously heard on campus in that there are two bells for each note, giving a total of seventy-four bells.

This carillon will be similar to the one SAC would obtain if the purchase of the bells is found feasible. The cost of the entire system as installe din the Administration wing of the admissions building now would be approximately $6,000.

Unbalanced Budget?

Indicative of the validity of many educators' complaints that today's emphasis on athletics by colleges and junior colleges is far out of proportion compared to scholastic emphasis is the proposed associated students budget for 1961-62.

Of the expected income of $63,200, a staggering $26,087 will be dealt to athletics, accounting for 41.3 per cent of the estimated total budget.

Prepared by a committee composed of administrators and student leaders, the budget will go to the student council for adoption Tuesday.

The rise of intercollegiate "big-time" athletics in the past ten years throughout the United States has shown a marked effect on the nation's spectators as evidenced by the skyrocketing attendance figures during that period. It has also stimulated participation of the youth of America who, through their athletic abilities, have been able to gain a free education and, at the same time, enjoy all of the comforts of the finest in equipment and treatment financed by the associated student budgets.

This is fine.

We wish them the best and hope that in the process they can repay us with a conference championship and possibly national recognition which will add to the stature of the college.

Yet, it is apparent that the "revolution" has gotten out of hand. We are not criticizing the Don coaches for requesting the sum that they did, nor are we finding fault with the budget committee for granting their requests. It is similar to an armaments race; the other schools do it with larger budgets and we must keep up or face the consequences.

However, when a too burdensome athletic budget interferes with or lessens the emphasis on academic achievement, then the college should either re-evaluat its purpose or turn "pro" and forget about the three R's.

A case in point is the rejecting on the priority A budget of a proposal to give six fifty-dollar scholarships to talented students in various fields of interest such as English, history, music, and business. The proposal was placed on the priority B budget instead which means that the scholarships will not become a reality unless the estimated income is surpassed.

Perhaps we should take another look at the aims and objectives of an educational institution. —J. R. W.

Tractors For Cuba?

Fidel Castro, Premier of Latin America's trouble spot, Cuba, has stated that he would release 1000 Cuban, Cuban-American prisoners taken in the recent ill-fated Cuban invasion—if the United States would furnish him with 500 tractors.

"A great philanthropist movement!," was the shout.

"International blackmail!," was the echo.

The question was not that simple. Human lives were at stake in return for a handful of nuts and screws. Yet, for that handful of nuts and screws lives of many more than the 1000 prisoners might be lost.

Uncle Sam wants to help the people of Cuba; it is her government he opposes. If the people would receive the tractors why not send them?

The tractors would go to Castro. . . . Would he turn them over to the people? Or would he trade them to Russia or Red China, both who desperately need them, in return for arms and ammunition.

Based on past performances, can Castro be trusted? If he can, send the people the tractors. If not, tread lightly. Castro might find a way for the tractors to shoot bullets.

Helpful Tips For Examinees

By Don Mayes

One of the first steps to remember while preparing for final exams is that "Final" is the big word, and the final word in many cases.

For generations student attempts, both moral and immoral, designed to conquer this dilemma, have proved that only honesty prevails.

I personally witnessed a student in 1953, hugging the edge of a three story ledge looking for an open window during an attempt to borrow a Biology-Lab final. Needless to say, such a wild attempt was successful, but it turned out that the student kipped the wrong test and many concerned suffered because of it.

During this same semester at the college, a stooge in the Administration Transcript Section was willfully exchanging higher grades for $25.00 a letter. He was of course caught, expelled, and never allowed to enter another U.S. college.

These are rare cases however, but are good examples of how not to prepare for a final grade.

Here are a few last minute suggestions as compiled from the most noted final-night crammers on "How Not To Study."

1. Wait until the night before the test, and cram all night, forcing yourself to stay awake because then you'll be able to say, "I studied all night, why didn't I get a better grade."

2. Be sure to drink lots of coffee, and have the Dexedrine handy. This way you can float for a couple of days and end up dog-tired when the finals come along.

3. Forget your notes. You probably don't have them in order anyway.

4. If you still write answers on your sleeve or desk, make sure they are large enough for your neighbor to see.

Good Luck! At the beach that is, the sun is always pretty hot around the first part of June.

Postscripts

Editor, El Don,

In the interest of the student body I would like to make it clearly understood that my protest of the last student body election was done on my own without the knowledge of any of the candidates. My protest was not intended to be a reflection on anyone involved in the election—candidate or otherwise.

I want to publicly thank AMS president Lake for placing my protest before the SFRB, and praise Santa Ana College for having a democratic process by which a disagreement can be brought up and decided in a democratic manner. At a time when our democratic process is endangered by both the left and the right, it is heart-warming to see it in action on a college campus.

Thank you,
Patrick F. Lapensee
President, SACYD.

A Farewell to SAC

Two years have passed. Two years of pleasant associations with students, instructors, and administrative and service personnel. Two years of homework, deadlines and finals. Hard; rough; and moments of chucking it all.

But, always, just one more day; just keep plugging.

Show up; get the assignments; do the homework.

In short, perseverance.

Not brains, not genius, not apple-polishing, but just plain perseverance.

If I may contribute to all the words that are spoken by undergraduates—words of guidance and some of wisdom—then it would be my wish that you who are students—some brilliant, some not so brilliant— but you who have the purpose in mind that you may better yourselves—to you I would say, persevere.

In the last analysis, it is perseverance that will get you your degree. Nothing more, nothing less.

Just remember, perseverance.

Improvement of SAC Dr. Johnson's Dream

By Barbara Berman

(Editor's note: This is the seventeenth in a series of interviews.)

When the lifelong dream of a dedicated humanitarian is to "develop the finest junior college in the world," contemporaries can be assured that the author of this statement will spend innumerable hours making this dream come true.

Dr. John E. Johnson, president of Santa Ana College and an outstanding educational leader, lives college, talks college, loves college, and even spends the majority of his summer vacation in Administration Office No. 1 striving to make Santa Ana College a leader among two-year institutions.

"But when I can get away for a little while, I take my wife and two daughters to Catalina Island each year," Dr. Johnson remarked.

An island surrounded by water is quite an understandable vacation spot for the ex-swimming coach and present Commander in the Naval Reserve.

South Pacific Vet

"My only chance to see the waters of the South Pacific was when I was a guest of Uncle Sam in the Navy," Dr. Johnson smiled.

And during the "visiting cruise," President Johnson was interested in school systems, "but only saw ruins of the Phillippine College."

Soon he was home in the Santa Ana School System which he has served for the past 22 years. During that time he has been elected far west representative for the National Committee on Student Personnel of the American Junior College Association and was Instructor of Eduction Finance at the University of Southren California, where he received his doctorate after earning his bachelor's degree at Occidental College.

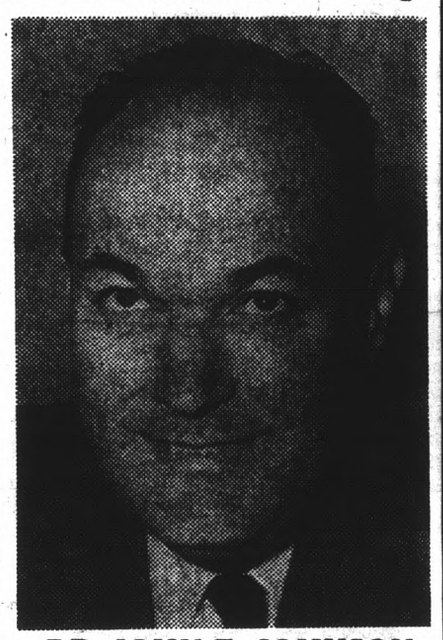

Active Speaker

At the present time, Dr. Johnson serves on many civic boards, giving time to various community projects.

"But these next few weeks call for speeches . . . a good graduation standby!" gleamed the President.

Dr. Johnson's text for many of his speaches deal with the junior college prominence in the educational world today.

"I strongly feel that the junior college is the first step in higher education and within the next few years we will realize that the bulk of the students will do first and second year college work in the junior college," stated Dr. Johnson.

DR. JOHN E. JOHNSON

Banquet Dinner

When speeches are completed, Dr. Johnson enjoys delicious banquet meals. "Why, this time of year I have five or six banquets per week!" he exclaimed.

But when the meals are finished, Dr. Johnson returns his thought to his college . . . which, although the name may be changed through a proposed district expansion and enlarged new campus, will appear as the best junior college in the United States.

And this achievement, we may someday say, was produced and directed by our President, Dr. John E. Johnson.

Graduation Memories Reach Back 45 Years

The members of the class of 1961 form the 45th graduating class of Santa Ana College.

During those colorful 45 years SAC has sent many people out into the cruel dark world, but things were done slightly different in the good old days, according to El Don files.

The commencement program for the class of 1927 featured an entrance march and overture by the Junior College orchestra, songs by the Men's Quartet, and the recitation of a poem by a student. Dana King Hammond, director of the college at the time, introduced the commencement speaker, Dr. Thomas W. McQuarrie, professor of education at USC. Comment in "El Don" described the speaker as "well filled to bring an interesting and worthwhile message." The baccalaureate service for the 59-member class was held Sunday June 12 at 11 a.m. in the Spurgeon Memorial Church, Santa Ana.

The class of 1937 was composed of 202 sophomores. The commencement exercises were conducted in Santa Ana High School gym, and the speaker was Professor W. Ballentine Henley, dean of the school of government at USC.

Real Gold Award

A new monetary award was given out for the first time in 1930. The First National Bank of Santa Ana inaugurated a prize of $50 in gold to the best commercial student in each graduating class.

In 1947, 105 graduates took part in the ceremonies held June 11 at Willard junior high auditorium. John McCoy was college director, and the commencement address was delivered by Dr. William Jones, Whittier College president. The Sunday baccalaureate was held on June 8 at First Methodist Church. The 1947 Spring Banquet at the Pacific Coast Club in Long Beach saw the presentation of sporting and literary awards.

At the time of the 1957 commencement, the exercises were held in Cook gym. Dr. Daniel C. McNaughton, director, conducted the ceremonies for the last time before leaving SAC. The 120 graduates heard Dr. Baxter M. Geeting, SAC alumnus and chairman of Humanities and Arts at Sacramento State College on June 13 of that year.

A Look Ahead

And what about the class of 1967? The majority of these prospective grads are just leaving eighth grade now, and by the time they leave junior college, SAC will be well established in its new location, with perhaps a new name. But the traditions and colorful history will still be there, for all to look back upon with pride!

Proposed Budget Awaits Adoption

The proposed budget for the 1961-62 school year will be submitted to the student council at next Tuesday's meeting.

Prepared by an eight-man committee composed of student leaders and administrators, the budget calls for an estimated $63,200, an increase of $19,000 over last year's budget.

A two-thirds affirmative vote of the council is needed to adopt the new budget, which allots increases to practically every department.

If the budget is adopted by the council, athletics will receive the biggest chunk of the associated students funds, $26,087, or 41.3 per cent of the setimated income. Salaries will include $13,434, 21.3 per cent; publications receives $7,250, 11.5 per cent; art, music, and drama receives $4,870, 7.7 per cent; capital outlay, $3,300, 5.2 per cent; and student activities, student government, organizations, public relations, miscellaneous, and reserves receive the remaining $8,259, 13 per cent.

Of the $63,200 estimated income, $27,250 is expected to come from the sale of associated student body cards, 43.1 per cent; athletics will bring in $13,800 it is estimated, 21.8; Don Bookstore, $12,000, 19 per cent; snack bar, $6,500, 10.3 per cent; drama, $2,500, 4 per cent; and miscellaneous, $1,150, 1.8 per cent.

Last Issue

With this issue, El Don completes its thirty-third consecutive issue and terminates another year of publication. No issue is scheduled for next week because of final examinations.

Sixteen Elected to Pep Squad By Student-Faculty Committee

Fall semester pep squad members were elected Monday, May 29 by the SAC judging committee following tryouts in Cook gym.

Joan Litrich was elected head songleader. Judy Camblin, Judy Burks, Merry Moon, and Nancy White are Miss Litrich's assistants.

Head yell leader position was awarded to Ruth Ann Rittenhouse. Other yell leaders include Frank Walker, Donna Emmal, Don Jarrell, and Greg Enriquez, all students at SAC this semester.

Flagtwirlers for the fall semester are Sharon Cordell, head flagtwirler; Marina Grilliot, Donna Meshey, and Celia Barnjas.

Judy Anderson is head majorette and will be assisted by Wanda Dorman.

Serving as judges for this year's election of pep squad members were Jim Davis, Kay Black, Don Forney, Miss Isabelle Rellstab, Mr. Elmer Ramsey, Mr. Bob Hoyte, a community citizen, Mr. Bob Winbigler of Winbigler Mortunary of Santa Ana, Alan Comp, Mike O'Sullivan, Carol Davis, and Wylie Aitken.

Latest Election Brings Results

In a finale to a merry-go-round of elections which included two protest elections, Terry Fredericks won the office of president of the sophomore class over Jim Davis. The vote was 113 to 59.

Incumbent commissioner of assemblies (and rallies) Don Forney won over Jackie Reeves and write-in candidate Joe Cordy. Forney had 103 votes to Reeves 55. Cordy had two votes.

Edwin Arnold was elected to the newly formed office of Commissioner of Athletics. He received 144 votes.

The athletics commissioner will be in charge of the intra-mural program, arrange for all sports banquets and programs with the aid of the director of the SAC Sports News Service, and will be in charge of general promotion of SAC sports activities.

Write in candidates for Commissioner of Athletics were numerous. Included were Jay Ratcliff, Don Jarrell, Jim Heeter, Dave Moreno, Judy Huhn, Tom Tullar, Randy Hiltpold and Becky Cotton.

El Don Staff Hosts County Journalists

Santa Ana College members of Beta Phi Gamma, national junior college journalism fraternity, were hosts last night for the second annual Orange County College Journalism Banquet in the Student Union, attended by advisers and editors of papers at SAC, Orange Coast, Fullerton JC, Orange County State and Chapman College.

El Don Editor Jerry Wilcox was chairman, the speaker was Robert Gettemy, Orange County editor for the Los Angeles Times.

Jones Runs Best 2-Mile of Career

Dick Jones, Santa Ana's sole entry in the 1961 State Track Meet, ran the best time of his life Saturday night to finish fifth in the two-mile race.

The plucky runner zipped to a 9:25.8 clocking to finish fifth best among the best two mile runners in the state. Jones' race officially closed out the Santa Ana Colleg 1961 track season.

Jones' time rated him third highest on the SAC two-mile honor list. The Santa Ana freshman rates behind the brilliant Charley Clark and the remarkable Dale Story.

Coach John Ward is looking forward to the Santa Ana Colleg distance ace returning next year and eventually running a 9:15 two-mile race and a 4:12 mile.

Jones looked real good running the race at Modesto, California, according to Ward. "He stayed right up there behind until the last couple of laps," commented Ward.

Harry McCalla of Fullerton won the race in a blistering time of 9:06.2. The new time established by the Hornet runner went into the record books as a new State record. The Hornets captured their econd State tistle this year as they nailed down the State track crown. Earlier in the year, Fullerton won the basketballt tile.

Story, Stuart Headline News

Dale Story and Larry Stuart, two Santa Ana College track stars last year, turned outstanding performances last Saturday night at the California Relays.

Story, an Oregon State sophomore, zipped to a blazing time of 8:46.9 to win the two-mile race. Story beat former Don, Charley Clark, who had just set a national record the week before at 8:45.4.

Stuart came through in flying colors in his favorite event the javelin. The hefty weightman sent the javelin flying 252 feet and one half inch. It was the longest javelin throw in the United States in 1961.

1961 Swimmers Splash Way to 11 School Records

Santa Ana College swimmers close their second season of swimming this year after completely rewriting their Swimming and Diving Record Book, according to coach Myrel Moore.

The Don splashers set 11 new swimming records this year as they worked themselves into a fourth place finish in the Eastern Conference standings.

Sophomore Alan MacAulay led the onslaught on the records this year as he posted his name beside five records. Bob Widoe, named "Most Valuable" by his team mates, was next with three new records.

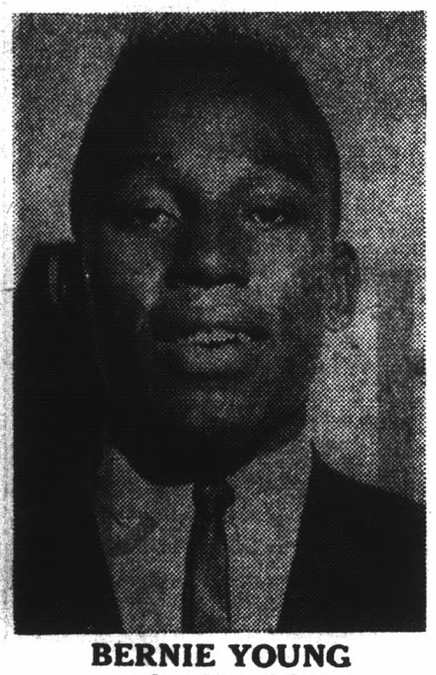

Only two records remained unbroken this year. The two marks left untouched by the eager Santa Ana team were the diving records. Coach Moore is hoping to see the two records smashed next year.

Young Clubs Top Average, Named Best Team Member

All-Eastern Conference third baseman Bernie Young captured the individual batting crown as the best hitter for the 1961 Santa Ana College baseball team.

BERNIE YOUNG
. . . leading hitter

The power hitting infielder led the downs with the highest conference batting average (.384) as well as the best seasonal batting average, (.372). Young also collected a total of 34 RBI's for the year to lead the team.

Young was named "Most Valuable Player" for the baseball team last week at the annual Spring Sports Banquet.

First year coach Roger Wilson had five sluggers finish the 1961 season with averages over .300. The top five stickmen for the Dons were Young (.372), Bob Foreback (.370), Dave Casey (.331), Terry Tewell (.324) and Danny Valenzuela (.316).

SAC Sports Top Victory Record

Who says Santa Ana College had a bad year sportswise?

The Dons compiled the best win and loss record in major sports in the Eastern Conference, it was announced recently by the Fullerton News Tribune.

In three major sports, football, basketball, and baseball the Santa Ana teams racked up an 24-11 win lose record over the past year.

Santa Ana was 5-2 on the gridiron, 13-1 on the basketball court, and 6-8 on the baseball diamond.

Fullerton won the most championships during the year, as they collected titles in basketball, track, tennis and water polo.
